The information in this factsheet has been recorded by SAFE Ireland through data collection from our members. SAFE Ireland represents thirty-nine domestic violence services in Ireland.

¹ Each individual woman may have been seen by / or admitted to the Domestic Violence service on more than one occasion in the year.

² This includes data from Sonas Housing who were not included in the 2010 national statistics.

³ Includes National Freephone Helpline (11,169 calls) operated by Women's Aid in Dublin.

⁴ The number of children in support services was not included in these statistics as there were a significant number of services that did not record this information.

SAFE Ireland is the national representative body for women's frontline domestic violence services in Ireland. We currently have 39 member organisations that provide a range of services and supports to women and their children experiencing or at risk from domestic violence. The majority of our members also advocate for societal change in relation to state and community responses to women and children at risk of violence.

There are Domestic Violence Support Services throughout the country
...Free ...Confidential + available to all women.
